

My Personal CPE Planner 2024

Your guide to planning your Continuing Professional Education

→ Changes to CPE Record Keeping

Changes to CPE claiming is currently being implemented to include hours. This is in line with other health professionals and health industries and more accurately reflects the total time that members are spending engaging in continuing professional education. As we transition to the new system, points and hours are required to be recorded. Please ensure you are accurately reflecting education hours. It is all members professional responsibility to ensure CPE is up to date and accurate and is consistent with Association requirements and recommendations.

Understanding your Continuing Professional Education (CPE) commitment

Education is one of the most important obligations of Massage & Myotherapy Australia members. It reflects a member's recognition of the dynamic nature of the health industry. Members' dedication to furthering their lifelong commitment to education not only ensures compliance with rigorous standards but also actively contributes to the continual improvement of the industry. Through their pursuit of knowledge and skills enhancement, members play a vital role in elevating the standards and practices in massage, remedial massage, and myotherapy. This commitment, fosters the betterment of the industry, reinforcing the Association's dedication to excellence and continuous advancement.

The fundamental concept of Continuing Professional Education (CPE) revolves around enhancing your career-related capabilities by expanding your knowledge and skills. Beyond the typical job expectations, CPE keeps Association members well-informed, providing a competitive advantage in the field.

CPE activities are offered by a range of providers, including Massage & Myotherapy Australia, educational institutions and private providers. There is no obligation to undertake CPE with Massage & Myotherapy Australia directly. You may also choose to undertake online learning, partake in inhouse training or attend Conferences.

There are a wide variety of opportunities for CPE available to members. Attendance at other professional associations' events, seminars run by local government such as the ATO and conferences, both local and international are acknowledged. If you are unsure whether the course you are attending is eligible for CPE or if you are having difficulty accumulating your points, contact the Association staff. If you are claiming for a non-Massage & Myotherapy Australia activity, please keep your evidence/paperwork in your records or upload documentation when updating your points and hours.

When you join Massage & Myotherapy Australia, you are required to annually declare your ongoing compliance with the Massage & Myotherapy Australia Constitution, Code of Ethics, Standards of Practice, and Continuing Professional Education requirements. Compulsory CPE applies for both membership of Massage & Myotherapy Australia and for eligibility for approved provider status with the individual private health funds. You have a professional obligation to yourself, to your clients and to the public to plan and participate in a continuing professional education program tailored to meet your own and your industry's expectations.

POINT REQUIREMENTS
Massage Members	Remedial Members	Advanced Members
30 CPE Points	40 CPE Points	50 CPE Points

ANNUAL HOUR REQUIREMENTS
Cert IV & Remedial Members	Advanced Members
20 Hours	25 Hours

Massage & Myotherapy Australia requires members to update their CPE points and hours annually, however, it is recommended to enter your points and hours at the time they are earned. Points/hours are valid for two years from the date they are earned.

The 5 Elements of the Association's Continuing Professional Education

Over time the CPE requirements may change to keep Massage & Myotherapy Australia members in line with Private Health Fund requirements as well as building consistency across health disciplines. Massage & Myotherapy Australia requires members to participate in education from a variety of different classifications rather than relying too heavily on one type of education. This ensures Association members are well-rounded, and adaptable therapists. To assist members with choosing CPE, the Association has classified CPE into 5 different categories. When designing your annual calendar and choosing education, the Association strongly encourages members consider the various categories and choose education that falls in different classifications. Some categories have CPE Point and Hours 'caps', this means there are restrictions on the quantity of education you can claim for that category, so pay close attention to these limits.

1 Core

Core includes foundational knowledge required for professional practice, for example a Diploma of Remedial massage therapy or an Advanced Diploma of Myotherapy is considered 'Core' CPE. Core relates to formally qualified practitioners who demonstrate a comprehensive understanding of the dynamics and complexity of the human body, the key focus lies in the knowledge of the human musculoskeletal system, encompassing areas such as function, dysfunction, homeostasis, balancing, and rehabilitation. Examples of related qualifications include Physiotherapy, BHSc Musculoskeletal, and BHSc Human Movement.

→ Members will automatically be awarded CPE points/hours for the above qualifications when joining the Association. No more than 50 CPE Points or 120 hours can be claimed for any one event. When updating CPE Points and Hours, add the points as reflected above and include hours studied, when exceeding 120 hours, enter the maximum 120 hours.

To see an example of what CPE points and hours could look like, please review page 6.

2 Professional & Technical

Professional A – Adjunct qualifications

Adjunct knowledge for professional practice or currency of skills of the therapist that is delivered with a formal qualification, these are often an Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) tertiary course. The Australian Qualifications Framework is the national policy responsible for regulating courses in Australian education and training. This element includes techniques and tools that may not have been fully covered in the therapist's original formal qualifications. For example, this would include qualifications in Business, Management, Health, Psychology, Yoga, etc.

Professional B – Massage Therapy

Adjunct knowledge for professional practice or currency of skills of the therapist that is delivered without formal certification and does not necessarily require examination or assessment. This would be typically delivered by an industry specialist in a seminar or lecture style. This element may replicate some of the techniques as described in Professional A. Many CPE events currently offered by the Association fall into this category. Third Party Providers refers to education that is not endorsed through the Massage & Myotherapy Australia endorsed education Activities Program, see Professional C for more information on endorsed education.

Professional C – Endorsed Education Activities Program (EEAP)

Another option is to attend a Massage & Myotherapy Australia Endorsed Education Activities Program (EEAP) course. The programs revise, enhance, and build on education derived from initial or foundational massage therapy courses. The National Education Committee extensively assesses the content of each EEAP application that expands and enhances the knowledge base as postgraduate opportunities. They can also be characterised by program design that offers newly emerging concepts, principles, theories and research in massage, bodywork, and healthcare.

→ No more than 50 CPE Points or 120 hours can be claimed for any one event. Members can claim for ongoing bachelor and/or master's degree studies, distributed annually, allocated over the life of the program a maximum of 50 CPE Points or 120 hours annually. Early withdrawal from a program may mean CPE are altered or removed at the Association's discretion.

5 Professional Engagement & Industry Content

Industry A

Professional practice, promotion and profiling of the profession that upholds the integrity of the profession and indicates commitment as a practitioner. Examples include how you make a difference to your clients or the profession, or how the industry makes a difference to the client. Examples may include charity events, volunteering for events, podcast production etc.

Industry B

This element is about research and publishing works that will develop the massage profession, treatment outcomes, and establish bodies of work that can be used by other health professionals, students, and peers. Examples can include research projects, producing material, this is often extensive. Research is the systematic investigation into a particular subject or problem to gain knowledge, insights, or understanding. It involves the collection, analysis, and interpretation of information to answer specific questions or solve problems. In the context of massage therapy, remedial massage therapy and myotherapy, research may encompass studies related to industry, practice, ailments and conditions.

→ Capped at no more than 2 of each entry per year and 25 hours. Attendance required and to be audited separately from general CPE.

HALO

HEALTH AND LEARNING ONLINE

MASSAGE & MYOTHERAPY AUSTRALIA

HALO currently features over 40 courses with additional modules being added based on feedback provided. Currently therapists can learn and review topics such as ethics, treatment of specific conditions, business, and theory. For more information and to participate in HALO, check out the Association's website:

www.massagemyotherapy.com.au/Education/HALO

Ethics in Practice

Ethics in Practice mandatory module was designed to address ethical dilemmas members may face. The module is an excellent way to learning about principles of ethics and provides members with the opportunity to enhance their knowledge and reflect on how these apply to professional practice.

Members are required to complete Ethics in Practice in the first year of membership and every 3 years on an ongoing basis. This allows the Association to assure the public that Massage & Myotherapy Australia members meet strict professional standards.

Educational Hours

Massage & Myotherapy Australia offers a comprehensive Continuing Professional Education (CPE) Program, designed to enhance members' continuous dedication to education. In order to accurately capture this commitment, the Association now requires members to log their hours when claiming CPE Points. This is a very similar process to claiming CPE Points on the Association website, with a single additional step or by notifying the Association in writing. Members may also provide supporting evidence of their education, such as certificates, receipts, or letters from education providers. Please ensure hour caps (restrictions) are observed when claiming hours.

Disclaimer: Massage & Myotherapy Australia reserves the right to remove, amend or adjust any point values, HALO content or EEAPs Provider. Should you have any complaint in relation to EEAPs workshops or coursework and events by third parties please contact the provider directly in the first instance. Massage & Myotherapy Australia takes no responsibility for the delivery, rescheduling or business and payment arrangement between EEAPs, third parties and the attendee. Massage & Myotherapy Australia strongly recommends that attendees read the Terms and Conditions of any provider before registering and fully understand the Terms and Conditions before registering for any coursework or event.

What is ineligible for CPE Points?

Private Health Funds legislative requirement is 'ongoing study', daily work is not inclusive of Continuing Professional Education. CPE is the continued dedication to increasing knowledge through study. Paid work and streaming videos outside of formal education is not eligible for CPE Points.
